NOTIFICATION No CI.132:MMM:2004, Bangalore, Dated :22nd August 2007

Minerals are valuable finite and non-renewable natural resources which are critical for the growth of any State/Country. Most of these mineral deposits are in Government, Forest and Revenue lands. There should be some attempt to conserve and use these resources judiciously in the interest of natural development and revenue mobilization by the State for the welfare of the State and its citizen. The State Government has recommended to the Government of India to impose restrictions on export of these valuable minerals and encourage grant of mining leases for captive use value addition by the mineral based industries, such as, the Steel industry. Grant of mining leases for captive use by the steel industry will not only boost revenue mobilization, but also helps in employment generation, industrialization, peripheral development and other indirect benefits. It is a proven fact that, the states stand to gain substantinally both in terms of revenues, industrilization, economic development and employment, if the minerals are used for value addition rather than exported in their raw form.

Therefore, the Government wants to encourage persons who add value to the mineral especially by setting up integrated steel plants, since this end use of mineral attracts huge investments in the State and lead to considerably higher value addition which in turn results in increased tax revenue and employment generation rather than those who merely export the mineral. As a step this direction, free areas will be notified inviting applications from existing and proposed captive mine users preferably for integrated steel plants.

It is hereby informed that the area noted below is available for grant of Mining lease to persons/companies/entities having as established Iron ore based Industry or desirous of setting up Integrated Steel Plant (s) and requiring the extracted mineral as a raw material in such a plant.

NOTIFICATION

No CI.197:MMM:2005, Bangalore, Dated :22nd August 2007

Minerals are valuable finite and non-renewable natural resources which are critical for the growth of any State/Country. Most of these mineral deposits are in Government, Forest and Revenue lands. There should be some attempt to conserve and use these resources judiciously in the interest of natural development and revenue mobilization by the State for the welfare of the State and its citizens. The State Government has recommended to the Government of India to impose restrictions on export of these valuable minerals and encourage grant of mining leases for captive use and value addition by the mineral based industries, such as, the Steel industry. Grant of mining leases for captive use by the steel industry will not only boost revenue mobilization, but also helps in employment generation, industrialization, peripheral development and other indirect benefits. It is a proven fact that, the states stand to gain substantially both in terms of revenues, industrialization, economic development and employment, if the minerals are used for value addition rather than exported in their raw form.

Therefore, the Government wants to encourage persons who add value to the mineral especially by setting up integrated steel plants, since this end use of mineral attracts huge investments in the State and lead to considerably higher value addition which in turn results in increased tax revenue and employment generation rather than those who merely export the mineral. As a step this direction, free areas will be notified inviting applications from existing and proposed captive mine users preferably for integrated steel plants.

It is hereby informed that the area noted below is available for grant of Mining lease to persons/companies/entities having as established Iron ore based Industry or desirous of setting up Integrated Steel Plant (s) and requiring the extracted mineral as a raw material in such a plant.
